

Interior door of a submarine. Notice the metallic, rough material that reflects only a little bit of light on the edges.

Smaller, circle port hole. Has a pressure gage located on the right.

A very cold texture/material. Looks worn down and used.

Not a typical submarine styled door. Looks steampunk styled.

Interior door, notice the red handle.

The visualization of how a submarine door opens. Hinges, and opens outwards.

A visualization of what is usually around the doorway. Gages, pipes, wires, lights.

